a number of others and stopped over at Detroit. They travelled by pack horse and drove their cattle before them. At Detroit they met Leonhard Kratz and the group travelled on to Michigan, then Grosse Isle, and finally settled at Gosfield in 1792. Here a family of eleven children was born to them. Here, too, the family name was changed to Wigle to suit the aforementioned schoolmaster.

Philip Fox (Fuchs) came to Maryland in 1772 from Baden County, Germany. Later he moved to Pennsylvania, but after hearing of free land in Canada he proceeded to Detroit, where he met Leonhard Kratz and other Germans. At first he stayed at Grosse Isle as the others had done, but in 1791 he moved to an area six miles below Windsor in the neighborhood of Petite Côte. Three years later he settled permanently at Gosfield.

Jacob Iler, together with his wife Elizabeth Snyder and her father, John Snyder, came from Pennsylvania about 1790 to settle at Grosse Isle. From there they moved in 1808 to a place near the lake now known as Colchester (Lot 37). At that time, trouble was brewing between the United States and Great Britain, and moving was forbidden. He was taken to Detroit to be tried for violating the law in attempting to move to his new purchase, but was acquitted. A man by the name of Chittenden encouraged him to make another attempt, promising him assistance. In the dead of night, provided with sleighs by Chittenden, the Ilers moved all their goods and chattels across the river without detection and, once over, were safe from molestation.

A treaty with the Indians dated May 22, 1784, had secured for the settlers a legitimate title to their lands. The earliest settlers appear to have settled at Delaware. James R. Brown of Edinburgh, who published his Views of Canada and the Colonists in 1844 and who claimed to have received his information directly from some of the original settlers, states: "Shortly after the landing of the U.E. Loyalists in the Niagara District, a party of them left Ancaster for the west, with tobacco, whisky, calico, knives, and trinkets for the Indian trade. Striking La Tranche about the present site of Woodstock, they took canoes and followed the river down past the forks, and camped near the present village of Delaware, making it the headquarters of the traffic with the Indians. The location pleased them and they sent back word to their friends in Ancaster, some of whom speedily joined them and the foundation of the settlement was made."⁷¹

The Thames River Valley provided a natural means of communication between the Detroit area and Niagara for those who could not afford to travel by boat on Lake Erie. Fur-traders and Indians were doubtless familiar with this overland route, and we have the names of two families which came in by way of Niagara and who worked their way over to the Thames Valley. They were the Dolsens and the Fields, both from Wyoming, Pennsylvania. Having lost their farms and possessions through their unwillingness to join the Revolutionists, they later fought with Butler's Rangers.

George Field with his sons Daniel, Gilbert, and Nathan came to Niagara in 1778 from Northumberland, Pennsylvania, having been threatened with imprisonment because of their loyalty. Two of the sons, Daniel and Nathan, joined Butler's Rangers in 1778. The father died in 1787, and the mother and Gilbert were given land in 1791 in Ancaster Township, while Nathan took up land on the Thames. His brother Daniel went on to Detroit but later was given land in Raleigh.

Isaac Dolsen Sr., also originating in Northumberland County, Pennsylvania, was a man of property who fled to Niagara in 1778 with eighteen other Loyalists. His signature appears in a petition in 1783 to Colonel Butler asking for the right to sell their produce to others than the garrison, and also for leases. When this request was refused, Dolsen Sr. evidently became dissatisfied, since we find him in Detroit in 1784 and settled on a farm at Petite Côte next to that of Daniel Field.

Isaac Dolsen had seven sons: Isaac, Daniel, Gilbert, Matthew, Peter, Jacob, and John. One of these, Matthew, after fighting for a time with Butler's Rangers, came to Detroit in 1781 where he first became a trader, later buying a farm next to his father at Petite Côte. In 1789 he settled at Dover.

Another important pioneer of German or Plain Folk background mentioned by Hamil is Frederick Arnold Sr.⁷² He is listed as a Dunkard who came from Germany in 1770 and settled in Redstone, Pennsylvania. Because he remained a Loyalist and his son joined Butler's Rangers, he came to

THE ARCHIVES OF ONTARIO COMMUNICATES!

We announce with pleasure that the Archives of Ontario's new telephone system is now operating. It ends over 20 years of black dial phone communications -- not a moment too soon, as our customers may know. All staff now have personal numbers. If you use our toll-free number, your call can now be transferred to any other Archives number.

People using old numbers will be referred to the new ones by the Queen's Park switchboard.

Our new telephone number list has been mailed to our main user groups, all Ontario archives in the Ontario Council of Archives, and the 11 other provincial/territorial archives. If you would like a copy, please phone the Reference Inquiry numbers below, or ask our Reference Archivists, or write us at 77 Grenville Street, Toronto, Ontario, M7A 2R9.

WHAT ONTARIO'S FREEDOM OF INFORMATION AND PROTECTION OF PRIVACY ACT MEANS FOR YOU

This legislation, passed in June 1987, came into effect on January 1, 1988.

As with most records held by other provincial government institutions, access to the historical records located in the Archives of Ontario are governed by the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act. Records here that were open at the time the Act came into effect remain available to the public, except for those records containing personal information.

Records in the Archives which were acquired from non-government sources (i.e. private individuals and organizations) are not affected by the legislation.

This legislation gives you the right of access to information held by the Ontario government and its agencies.

The Archives uses an informal access procedure. This is designed to give access to non-exempt records as quickly as possible without the time and expense of making a formal access request. Whether an informal or formal access request, the records will always be reviewed in a manner consistent with the provisions of the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act.

HOW TO PLACE AN INFORMAL ACCESS REQUEST

Researchers may ask for government records to which access is restricted using the informal access procedure. This is done simply by submitting a Records Request Slip directly to the Access Unit. Please provide as complete an archival reference as possible on this form. This will normally include: Record Group No., Record Series reference or Accession No., Box No., and/or File no., as well as full title of item and relevant dates.

The time needed for Archives staff to complete an access review will depend on the number and size of files and the backlog of records to be reviewed. If you have a deadline, we recommend that you submit your request well in advance.

Before you request restricted government records, please consult with the Reference Archivist on duty in the Reading Room. They will arrange for you to consult with an Access Officer and to submit your request.

QUE SIGNIFIE POUR VOUS LA
LOI DE 1987 SUR L'ACCÈS À L'INFORMATION ET LA PROTECTION DE LA VIE PRIVÉE?

Cette loi adoptée en juin 1987 est entrée en vigueur le 1^{er} janvier 1988.

Comme pour la plupart des documents détenus par d'autres institutions du gouvernement provincial, l'accès aux documents historiques déposés aux Archives publiques de l'Ontario est régi par la Loi de 1987 sur l'accès à l'information et la protection de la vie privée. Les documents déjà disponibles au moment où la Loi est entrée en vigueur, restent disponibles au public, à l'exception de ceux qui contiennent des renseignements personnels.

Les documents déposés aux Archives publiques venant de sources non gouvernementales (particuliers et organismes privés) ne sont pas visés par la Loi.

La présente Loi vous donne le droit d'accès aux renseignements recueillis par le gouvernement de l'Ontario et ses organismes.

L'utilisation, par les Archives publiques, de la procédure d'accès officieuse permet de vous donner accès à des documents qui ne font pas l'objet d'exceptions le plus vite possible sans avoir à remplir une demande d'accès officielle. Qu'il s'agisse d'une demande d'accès officieuse ou officielle, les documents seront toujours étudiés conformément aux dispositions de la Loi de 1987 sur l'accès à l'information et la protection de la vie privée.

COMMENT PRÉSENTER UNE DEMANDE OFFICIEUSE D'ACCÈS

Les chercheurs peuvent demander de consulter des documents gouvernementaux auxquels l'accès est restreint en présentant une demande d'accès officieuse. Il s'agit simplement de déposer une Formule de demande de dossiers auprès de l'Unité de l'accès. Veuillez donner si possible des renseignements archivistiques complets sur cette formule. Ces renseignements comprendront normalement : le numéro de groupe d'archives, le numéro de série ou le numéro d'acquisition, le numéro de carton et/ou de dossier ainsi que le titre intégral de l'article et les dates pertinentes.

Le temps qu'il faudra au personnel des Archives pour répondre à une demande d'accès variera selon le nombre et la taille des dossiers faisant l'objet de la demande et la charge de travail que représentent les demandes antérieures encore à l'étude. Si vous avez une date limite à respecter, nous vous recommandons vivement de faire votre demande bien à l'avance.

Avant de faire une demande d'accès à des documents du gouvernement dont l'accès est limité, veuillez consulter, dans la salle de lecture, l'archiviste de service chargé(e) des dossiers de référence. Il ou elle fera en sorte que vous puissiez consulter l'agent(e) chargé(e) de l'accès et présenter votre demande.

ONTARIO GOVERNMENT IMMIGRATION RECORDS FOR GENEALOGISTS

1. The Government of Ontario at various times has maintained offices involved in promoting and controlling immigration to and settlement in Ontario. These records contain some material which, although limited as to time period, is of interest to genealogists.
2. Other records of the Government of Ontario (and its pre-Confederation predecessors, Upper Canada/Canada West) also include nominal lists of settlers, land records, lists of aliens on British North American soil, lists of loyalists, and other records of new arrivals to Ontario. Among government records, please refer especially to the records of the Provincial Secretary (RG 8) and of Crown Lands (RG 1). Finding aids for these records are available at the Archives of Ontario. This summary does not cover the latter records; it is confined to the records of the immigration process proper.

Ontario Immigration Records in AO, RG 11 (Immigration)

3. RG 11 at the AO contains the surviving records of the Immigration Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Public Works (1869-1873), and its successor the Department of Immigration (1873-1901). No records have yet been located originating in the Immigration Branch of the Ontario Bureau of Colonization (created in 1901) or any of its successors down to 1944. The AO has some immigration-related records of the period 1944-c. 1960, in RG 9 (see paragraph 17, below). These were created by the Immigration Branch of the Department of Planning and Development. (This department was renamed the Department of Commerce and Development, then Economics and Development in 1961; it became the Department of Trade and Development in 1968, and last the Ministry of Industry and Tourism in 1972). These offices were responsible (among other things) for promoting immigration to Ontario in the period from 1944 to the 1970s. Parallel records in RG 6 include correspondence between the Premier's office and Ontario House (London, England) concerning British immigration in the period 1868-1960s, as well as records on the Hungarian Refugee Program, 1956-58.

4. A large proportion of the records in RG 11 of genealogical interest were created by the provincial government, mainly in the period 1869-1880, to document special bonus schemes (1872-75) and later other special assisted passage schemes. Some of the nominal lists were created by the federal immigration services and formally transferred to Ontario at an early date, under the joint provincial/federal mandate for immigration services prescribed by the British North America Act, and special agreements under which federal agents administered immigrant arrivals for the province. Counterpart federal records of the same period are found at the federal level, at the National Archives (NA) in RG 17 series I A (Agriculture) and RG 76 (Immigration) series B, C, D, and E. For guides to this material, see para. 19 below.

RG 11 Records Containing Nominal Lists

5. A variety of records in RG 11, kept for administrative, financial, or statistical purposes, contain some nominal lists of immigrants to Ontario. Most are dated 1862-1880. These lists supplement the more extensive federal Records of Entry (especially the ships' passenger lists, dated 1865-1918 ; see para 19 below). Some of the items in RG 11 may be unique and not duplicated in RG 76. A more detailed list follows.
6. ARRIVAL/DESTINATION RECORDS, 1862-1881 (RG 11, series M; available on microfilm, MS 847 reels 6-8; see attached list). These are both nominal and statistical records of immigrant arrivals in Ontario. Some were Provincial records; others were created by federal immigration agents and forwarded to the Province. A list of volumes with their outside dates is available.
7. The nominal portion of the arrival/destination records consists of records relating to four provincial field offices:

► Kingston.

One register of immigrants landed at Kingston, 1862-1878. Information may include all or some of the following: Name of person or HOF/destination/country of origin/via what seaport/health/age-sex breakdown of family/if settlers or servants, in what township/any tickets, rations or medical aid given/capital imported/remarks.

This register includes a list of destitute immigrants arriving at Kingston in 1865. Information includes names/expenses paid.

► Montreal.

Various nominal "statements" of immigrants destined for Ontario arriving at the federal immigration agency at Montreal, 1878. (See related records in NA, RG 76, series E).

► Quebec City.

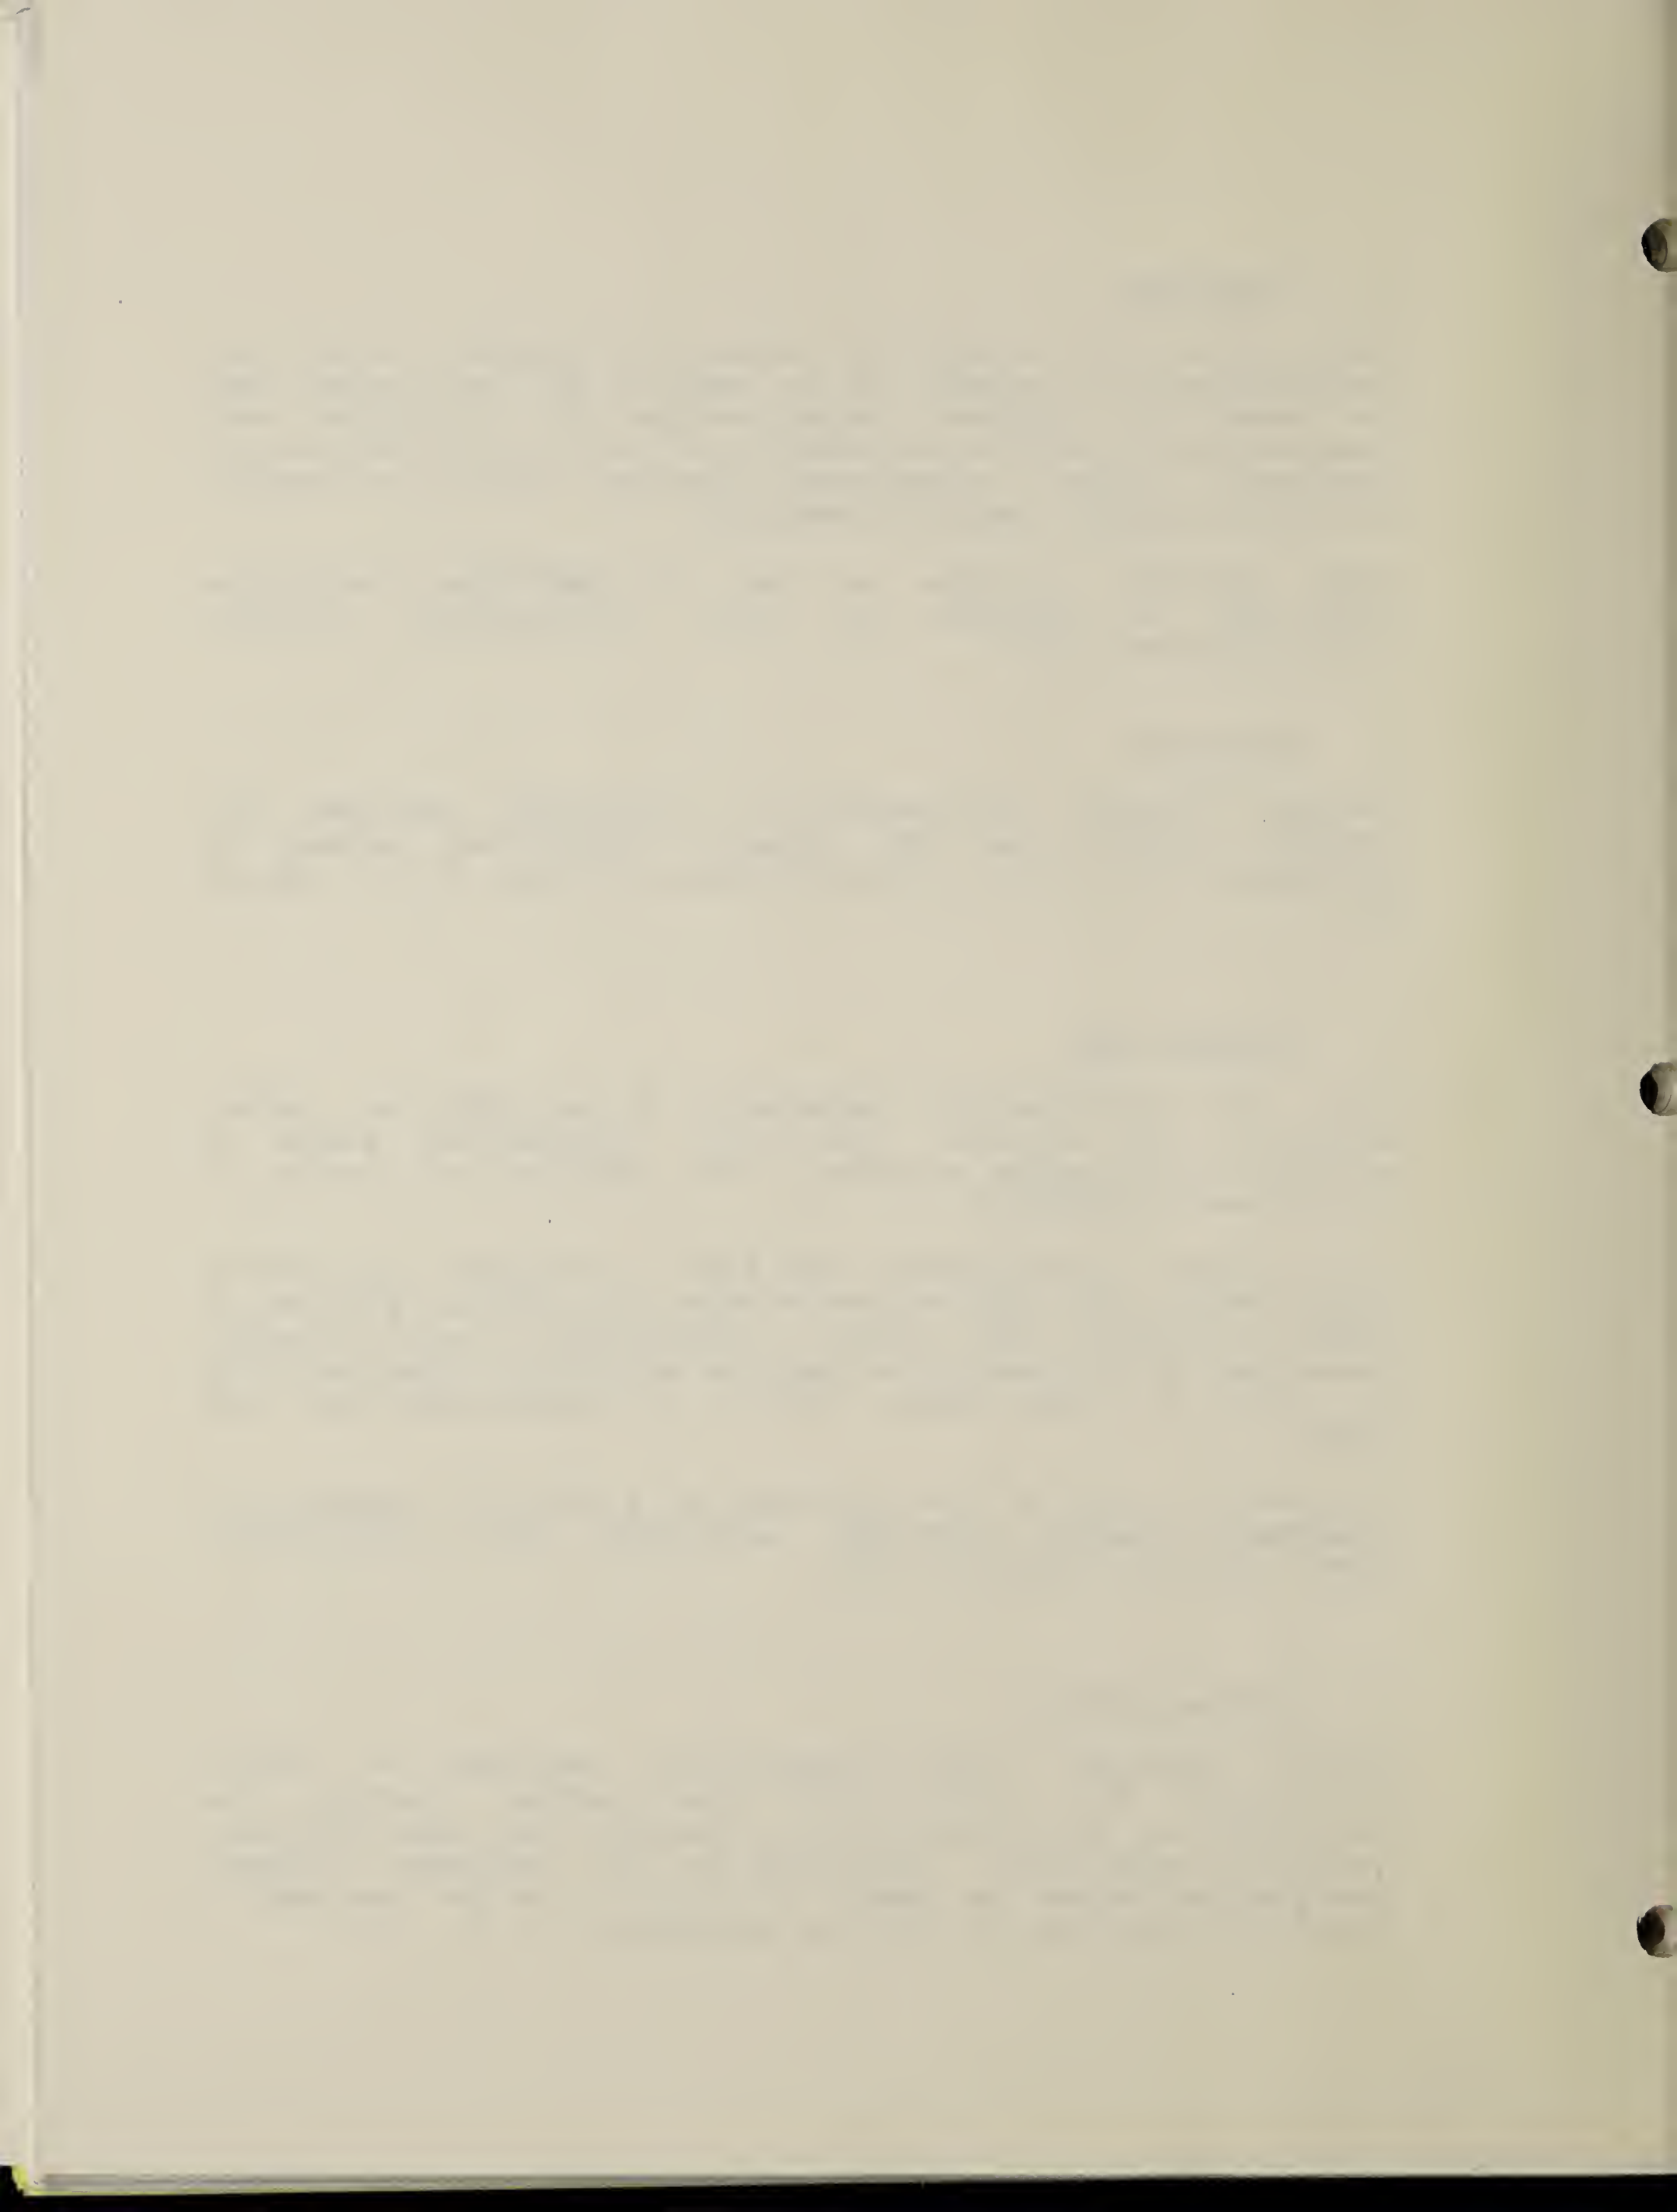

(a) Two "destination registers" of arrivals at Quebec destined for Ontario, 1872-1874. Information given is similar to Kingston register, with addition of parish of origin and occupation.

(b) Three "Immigration Aid Fund" registers of British immigrants given special assistance; the nominal portion is dated 1872-1875 and 1879-81. Information given includes: name/name of sponsoring society or emigration agent/country of origin/in some years, details of assistance and ship name.

Included in one of the volumes is a special register of assisted domestic servants, 1879-1881, but individuals' names are given only in 1880.

► Paris, France.

Ships' passenger lists (embarkation versions -- "Etats nominatifs des immigrants") for persons leaving via Liverpool in 1873 only, who originated on the Continent (various countries). Submitted by M. Bossange, federal Immigration Agent in Paris. A list of ships covered is available from the collections archivist.

8. BONUS AND ASSISTED PASSAGE RECORDS, 1872-1888 (RG 11, series F, G, I, J, K, L, T, and U; available on microfilm, MS 847 reels 1-5, 8 and 23-27; see attached list). These include various short lists of persons receiving immigration aid, or who were subject to bonuses paid to recruiters. Few of these records are dated after 1875. Some of the certificates and warrants (e.g. series L) were issued by overseas federal (Dominion) Emigration Agents on behalf of the provincial government. A draft nominal transcription for all series is available from the collections archivist; a nominal card index to series I and J only is in preparation: see archivist.
9. FREE RAILWAY PASS RECORDS, 1869, 1872-73, 1879 (RG 11 series N; not on film). A small group of nominal lists of immigrants given railway passes. A nominal transcription is available from the collections archivist.
10. DOMESTICS REGISTER, 1885 (RG 11 series R, box 4; available on microfilm, MS 847 reel 8; see attached list). This is apparently a nominal register of persons in Ontario applying for domestic servants, with lists of the persons assigned to them as servants; dated 4 May-30 November 1885 only.

General RG 11 Records Which May Contain Genealogical Information

11. The general correspondence and letterbooks elsewhere in RG 11 are likely to contain further nominal information about individual immigrants, scattered widely throughout. There are no nominal indexes to any of these items, but see remarks as to existing finding aids, below.
12. IMMIGRATION CORRESPONDENCE FILES, 1869-1899 (RG 11, series H, 1869-1873; series A, 1873-1896; series B, 1869-1894; and series O, 1891-1899. Series A is available on microfilm only, MS 847 reels 9-21; series B is available on MS 847 reel 22; see attached list).

These records total about 15 feet of correspondence on a wide variety of matters relating to immigration and settlement, to and from the provincial immigration office (see para. 3 above). This material is dated 1869-1899 only, and is richer in detail in the earliest period. Occasional nominal lists of and references to immigrants are scattered throughout. There are letterbooks (see below) but no surviving incoming correspondence, dated after 1899.

Finding aids. (a) A partial finding aid (made by AO) consisting of incomplete document-by-document abstracts exists for series A and B. This is under revision. (b) A letter register to correspondence dated 1867-73 is in RG 11 series C (not on film). (c) A subject index book dated 1867-1873 is in series D (not on film).

13. LETTERBOOKS AND JOURNALS, 1873-1902 (RG 11 series E, P, and S; no film available). These are the outgoing portion of the incoming correspondence in the Correspondence Files (para. 12 above). They include letterbooks and daily journals of various departmental officials, dated 1862-1901 (series E), 1873-1902 (series P) and 1874-75 (series S). Occasional nominal lists of and references to immigrants are scattered throughout.

Finding aids: a list of books, by office location and outside date, is available. Most of the individual books are self-indexed (by name of correspondent only; no subject index).

14. ACCOUNTING RECORDS, 1869-1901 (RG 11 series Q; not on film). These miscellaneous financial records include some nominal references of peripheral interest to genealogists. Examples include bonus refund journals and assisted passage records, mainly 1869-1880.

How to Consult RG 11

15. Access to RG 11 is not restricted under Freedom of Information/Privacy legislation. However, the RG is still being processed at the AO; consequently those portions not yet on microfilm may only be consulted under the supervision of the archivist. The portions indicated as being on film are available by placing a request at the circulation desk of the Archives of Ontario. They may also be borrowed, under LDS catalogue numbers, through local genealogical reference libraries of the Church of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon Church). Consult the collections archivist, Larry Weiler (1-416-965-6882) for current information and updates.

Other Archives of Ontario Collections Relating to Immigrants.

16. The pre-Confederation records relating to settlers, loyalists and aliens have already been mentioned (see para. 2). See the relevant finding aids and consult the reference archivists for assistance.
17. RG 9 (Ministry of Industry and Tourism; records are listed in finding aid titled "Economics and Development, Department of") contains a small amount of material on encouragement of immigration, federal-provincial immigration liaison and policy, and the immigration of domestics and other special groups, mainly in the period 1940s-1960s. (See para. 3 for history of this office). More recent records relating to immigrant and refugee arrivals in Ontario have not yet been received at the Archives of Ontario: contact the archivist responsible for immigration records for further information.
18. The AO has numerous holdings of post-1900 private papers which contain scattered references to immigration processes in material on multicultural groups: see especially the collections of the Multicultural History Society of Ontario, and of such organizations as the International Institute of Metropolitan Toronto, 1952-74. These and other holdings of peripheral interest are further described in Barbara Craig and Richard Ramsey, eds., Guide to the Holdings of the Archives of Ontario (2 vols., Toronto: Ontario Ministry of Citizenship and Culture, 1985), available in many libraries. Consult the responsible archivist for further information.
19. The AO holds microfilm copies of part of the counterpart federal immigration records (National Archives of Canada, RG 76, Immigration) referred to in paras. 4, 5, and 7 above. It is also available from the National Archives on interinstitutional loan. These federal records include some passenger lists, juvenile immigration registers, and subject files of Ontario interest. A summary guide, "Canadian Records of Immigration and Naturalization at the National Archives of Canada (NA): A Short Guide for Genealogists", describes this material; partial finding aids are also available. Contact the National Archives of Canada (395 Wellington Street, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0N3) for further information.

How to Find an Indexed Individual in the Census

To find an indexed individual in the 1871 census, locate the name of the municipality and the National Archives of Canada microfilm reel number using the numerical table below. The first part of the code identifies the Electoral District (frequently but not always corresponding to county or city), the second the Sub-District (corresponding to township, town, village, or city ward), the third the enumerator's division, and the final column the page number. The names and code numbers of the Districts, Sub-Districts, and Divisions, as well as the page numbers, appear at the top of each page of the original microfilmed census. Thus an individual for whom the location reference reads was resident in the Town of Picton, Prince Edward County (059 E), and can be located on the 11th page of the 2nd division of Picton, on reel C-9990.

The codes for Hastings and Prince Edward follow.

A page number "D" indicates an entry in the Deaths Schedules, microfilmed immediately following the personal schedules for each division. Some local libraries still have an old microfilm version of the 1871 census in which only the personal schedules are included; if this is true of your library, you will have to obtain the new films from Ottawa to consult the deaths schedules.
